II. THE PUBLIC RECORDS(S) EQUIFAX REPORTED ABOUT YOU

Did Equifax incorrectly report a Civil Judgment or Tax Lien about you?

) A "Civil Judgment" is a ruling made against someone in a civil court, a non-criminal matter. This typically relates to an outstanding debt to a lender or creditor.

) A "Tax Lien" is a lien imposed by law upon a property to secure the payment of taxes (income, property, or other). This includes both state and federal tax liens.

If your claim involves multiple civil judgments or tax liens, you will be able to enter additional information about those records below.

Tax Lien

Civil Judgment

What was incorrect about Equifax’s reporting of the Civil Judgment(s) or Tax Lien(s)?

- J Select “Ownership” if you claim that Equifax reported a civil judgement or tax lien on your credit report that did not belong to you.
- J Select “Updating” if Equifax reported the wrong status of a Civil Judgment or Tax Lien that belonged to you, for example by reporting a Tax Lien as unpaid when it had been released, or a Civil Judgement as outstanding when it was satisfied or had been dismissed.

Ownership Updating

Below, provide a description of the Civil Judgment or Tax Lien. For Ownership claims, explain why the Civil Judgment or Tax Lien does not belong to you. For Updating claims, describe the correct status of the Civil Judgment or Tax Lien and how Equifax should have reported it.

III. ADDITIONAL CLAIMS

Did Equifax incorrectly report more than one Civil Judgment or Tax Lien about you?

Yes No

Below, provide a description of the additional Civil Judgment or Tax Lien. For Ownership claims, explain why the Civil Judgment or Tax Lien does not belong to you. For Updating claims, describe the correct status of the Civil Judgment or Tax Lien and how Equifax should have reported it.

IV. YOUR DAMAGES

Did you suffer adverse action after June 28, 2015 as a result of Equifax incorrectly reporting a Civil Judgment or Tax Lien about you? “Adverse action” can include, but is not limited to, denial of credit, denial of insurance, denial of employment, denial of housing, higher interest rate, higher insurance rate, lower credit limit, lower loan amount, decrease in credit limit on existing account, or an increase on an existing insurance rate.

Yes No

If you suffered adverse action, who obtained a copy of your Equifax credit report and subsequently took the adverse action (complete if you selected "Yes" above)?

If you suffered adverse action, please provide the approximate date when the adverse action occurred (complete if you selected "Yes" above).

___ ___/___ ___/___ ___ ___

Describe the adverse action taken as a result of the public record reported on your credit file (complete if you selected "Yes" above).

Did you suffer more than one adverse action?

Yes No

If you selected "Yes" above, please provide the approximate date(s) when the additional adverse action(s) happened, a description of the adverse action(s), and identify who took the adverse action(s).

THIS AREA INTENTIONALLY LEFT BLANK.
PLEASE PROCEED TO THE NEXT PAGE OF THIS FORM

V. DOCUMENTATION

If you have an Ownership Claim, you must include documentation of the following:

1. Evidence that the public record did not belong to you. This could be:
 - a. a copy of the public record that did not belong to you (e.g., a date stamped court record or similar document); or
 - b. a copy of an Equifax report showing the record that does not belong to you.
2. Evidence of adverse action taken against you after June 28, 2015. This could be:
 - a. an adverse action notice or other written statement from the company that took the adverse action which refers to the public record that does not belong to you; or
 - b. a written statement from you that includes details about the adverse action, meaning (i) the name of the company that took adverse action; (ii) the approximate date of the adverse action; (iii) a statement that the adverse action was because of the misattributed record.

If you have an Updating Claim, you must include documentation of the following:

1. Evidence (such as in the form of a date stamped court record or similar document) showing the date the disposition (i.e., payment or satisfaction of the lien or judgment) was publicly filed.
2. Evidence of adverse action taken against you after June 28, 2015. This could be:
 - a. an adverse action notice or other written statement from the company that took the adverse action which refers to the public; or
 - b. a written statement from you that includes details about the adverse action, meaning (i) the name of the company that took adverse action; (ii) the approximate date of the adverse action; (iii) a statement that the adverse action was because of the inaccurately reported public record.
